

A Student Reports

It is a special pleasure for us to have with us here today the European Union Head of Delegation, Kampala Amb. Attilio Pacifici, Italian Ambassador in Uganda Amb. Domenico Fornara, the Erasmus programme lecturer from Europe to Africa Prof. Elana Ochse, University of Torino-Makerere Coordinator Prof. Cecilia Pennacini, Principal of College of Humanities and Social Sciences Prof. Edward Kirumira, Makerere-Torino Coordinator Dr. Eria Olowo Onyango, Head of Department Sociology and Anthropology, Lecturers and fellow students.

I'm very glad to say that the course was interesting, wonderful and fruitful. Prof. Cecilia Pennacini and Prof. Elana Ochse employed good learning approaches which emphasized the development of practical skills in observation, interpretation and information processing.

I'm delighted to say that we have gained awareness and capacities in expressing ourselves both orally and in writing. This will improve our English proficiency and help us in scholarly writing. In this completed course, we have also experienced and developed competence in ethnographic and audio-visual methods for anthropological and sociological research. For instance, students made several cinema/films.

We are greatly impressed by your ambitious plans under the Erasmus programme, University of Torino-Makerere cooperation that place students at international competitive edge. We really appreciate and it has shaped our thinking and ability for research.

Lastly, a special note of thanks goes to my fellow students for their absolute commitment and the teachers for their tireless effort devoted in the completion of this course. I would like to give my deepest thanks to the coordinators; Prof. Cecilia Pennacini, Dr. Eria Olowo Onyango and Prof. Edward Kirumira who are the wheels on which this programme rolls, through their selfless endeavor in their work.

I wish all of you a very good and safe journey home, Thank you.
