This study historicises the terrorism debate in Uganda between 1976 – 2015 and is intended to rethink the evolution of the meaning of the term terrorism, causes, manifestations and state responses to terrorism by examining the alternative approaches, in part provided by the Critical Terrorism Theory (CTT), to the predominant understanding of terrorism provided by The Orthodox Terrorism Theory (OTT).

Zaid Sekito is a Gerda-Henkel Stiftung Foundation PhD student, a Makerere University – DRGT and an SSRC NextGen 2020 Dissertation Completion Fellow. He is also a part-time Assistant Lecturer in the Department of History, Archaeology and Heritage Studies, Makerere University. His research interests converge around issues of conflicts, and violence particularly, on terrorism. He is also interested in how media is shaping historical discourses on the study of terrorism.
