On the occasion of the launch of the book Gendered Institutions and Women's Political Representation in Africa,

You are hereby invited a Webinar hosted by The Nordic Africa Institute

During this webinar, the new book 'Gendered Institutions and Women's Political Representation in Africa, aims at explaining the uneven developments on the continent with selected case studies of both the 'success cases' and the less successful cases from different regions.
During the course of the last three decades efforts of democratisation and institutional reforms has characterised the African continent including demands for gender equality and women's political representation. As a result, some countries have introduced affirmative action measures either in the aftermath of conflicts or as part of broader constitutional reforms whereas others are falling behind this fast track to women's political representation.
